

Science, Mathematics & Statistics

Statistician

Deal with data and help to find practical solutions to problems.

Job profile <https://www.prospects.ac.uk/job-profiles/statistician>

Office for National Statistics (ONS) - www.ons.gov.uk

Actuary

Compiles and analyses statistics and uses them to calculate insurance risks and premiums.

<https://www.actuaries.org.uk/becoming-actuary/what-actuary>

Operational Researcher

Operational researchers examine the way an organisation operates, using mathematical and analytical techniques to help it to develop better business practices and systems. Operations research can also be known as management science or, if applied to the engineering field, industrial engineering.

<https://targetjobs.co.uk/careers-advice/job-descriptions/276247-operational-researcher-job-description#>:

Physicist

A physicist applies themselves to the discovery and study of the ways that energy and matter interact. Physicists often conduct, investigate, and conclude solutions or theories in science.

<https://www.yourfreecareertest.com/physicist/#>

Laboratory technician

Scientific laboratory technicians carry out the work that allows scientists to concentrate on, and perform, the more complex analytical processes in the laboratory. You'll be involved in a variety of laboratory-based investigations within biological, chemical, physical and life science areas.

<https://www.prospects.ac.uk/job-profiles/scientific-laboratory-technician#>